THE HOMAGE OF JUSTICE.

We have compiled, from various source which were commanded from their severa authors by the lofty patriotism, valor, talents and success of Gen. Harrison, long before he was named for the Presidency, and in times which ought to give them weight sufficient to bear down all the petty calumnies and quibbling objections which party malignity may now presume to forge against the war-worn and time-honored patriot and sol-

The authorities we present against the puny attacks of Loco-Foco Federalism, and which we shall stereotype as an impregna-ble barricade against all opposition, are no less than the CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES, the LPGISLATURE OF INDIANA, and of KENTUCKY, JAMES MADISON, JAMES MON-ROE, Col. RICHARD M. JOHNSON, ANTHONY | Governor Shelby and for other purposes. WAYNE, LANGDON CHEVES, SIMON SNYDER, GOV. SHELBY, Com. PERRY, Col. CROGHAN, Col. Davies, and others, including in the il-Instrious catalogue even THOMAS RITCHIE himself!

We begin with the testimony of Col. R. M Johnson, now Vice President of the United States.

Col. Johnson said, (in Congress)-

"Who is Gen. Harrison? The son of one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, who spent the greater part of his large fortune in redeeming the pledge he then gave, of his fortune, life and sacred honor,' to secure the liberties of his country.

"Of the career of Gen. Harrison I need not speak—the history of the West, is his history. For forty years he has been identified with its intersts, its perils and its hopes. Universally beloved in the walks of peace, and distinguished by his ability in the councils of his country, he has been yet more illustrioustry distinguished in the field.

"During the late war, he was longer in active service than any other General officer; he was, perhaps, oftener in action than any one of them, and never sustained a de-

James Madison, in a special message to Congress, Dec. 18, 1811, said,

"While it is deeply lamented that so many valuable lives have been lost in the action which took place on the 7th ultimo, Congress will see with satisfaction the dauntless spirit of fortitude victoriously displayed by every description of troops engaged, as the collected firmness which distinguished their commander on an occasion requiring the utmost exertions of valor and dicipline.

James Madison in his message to Con. gress, Nov. 1812, said,

"An ample force from the States of Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Virginia, is placed, with the addition of a few regulars, under the command of Brigadier General Harrison, who possesses the entire confidence of his fellow soldiers, among whom are citizens, some of them vo unteers in the ranks, not less distingnished by their politi cal stations than by their personal merits."

In Mr Madison's message of Dec. 1813, the compliment was extended, as follows:

"The success on Lake Erie having opened a passage to the territory of the enemy, the officer commanding the North-Western arms, transferred the war thither, and, rapidly pursuing the hostile troops, fleeing with their savage associate, forced a general ac tion, which quickly terminated in the capture of the British, and dispersion of the sav-the officers who fought under his banner at the battle of Tippecanoe:

"Should our country again require our services to oppose a civilized or savage foe, we should murch under General Harrison and fame.

#JOEL COOK, R. B. BURTON, NATHAN AD-AMS, A. HAWKINS, H. BURCHSTEAD, HOSEA BLOOD, JOSIA SNEELING, O. G. BURTON, C. FULLER, G. GOODING, J. D. FOSTER.'

Extract of a letter from Col. Davies, who was killed at the battle of Tippecanoe, Aug. 24th, 1811:

"I make free to declare, that I have imagined there were two military men in the West, and Gen. Harrison is the first of the Message of Simon Suyder, Governor of Pennsylvania, Dec. 10, 1813.

"Already is the brow of the young warrior, Croghan, encircled with laurels, and the blessings of thousands women and children rescued from the scalping knife of the ruthless savage of the wilderness, and from the still more savage Proctor, rest on Harrison and his gallant army."

he Legislature of Indiana, on the 120 811, the Speaker of the House of ddread den, Harrison:

ral; and that for his cook, dalib kilful and gallant conduct in the battle lippecance, he well deserves the warms inks of his country and his nation."

Gen. Anthony Wayne, in his letter to the THOMAS W. BECK, Secretary of War, giving an official accoun of his sanguinary Indian Battle, in 1792

"My faithful and gallant Lieutenant Harrison, rendered the most essential service, by communicating my orders in every di-rection, and his conduct and bravery, exciting the troops to press for victory."

Resolved. By the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States America in Congress assembled, That the thanks of Congress be, and they are hereby presented to Major General William Henry Harrison, and Isaac Shelby, late Governor of Kentucky, and, through them to the officers and men under their command, for their gallantry and good conduct in defeating the combined force of British and Indians under Major General Proctor, on the Thames, in Upper Canada, on the fifth day of October, one thousand eight hundred and hirteen, capturing the British army, their aggage, camp equipage, and artillery; and that the President of the United States be equested to cause two gold medals to be struck, emblematical of this triumph, and presented to Gen. Harrison and Isaac Shel- FTHE subscriber would respectfully inform by, late Governor of Kentucky."

Speaker of the H. of Representatives. JOHN GAILLARD. President of the Senate pro tempore. April 4, 1818 .- Approved, JAMES MONBOE.

Gov. Shelby to Mr. Madison, May 18th,

"I feel no hesitation to declare to you that believe Gen. Harrison to be one of the first military characters I ever knew."

Col. Richard M. Johnson to General Harrison, July 4, 1813, says:

"We do not want to serve under cowards had proved himself wise, prudent and brace.

Commodore Perry to General Harrison. August 18, 1817, says:

"The prompt change made by you in the order of battle on discovering the position of strong and healthy woman, title indisputable, the enemy, has always appeared to me to and will be sold on a credit to the 1st Januhave evinced a HIGH DEGREE OF MILITARY ary next. Well secured paper will be re-TALENT. I con cur with the venerable Shel- quired. by in his general approbation of your conduct in that campaign."

The opinions of the Hop. Langdon Cheves of the importance of the victory of the Thames, and the bravery of Gen. Harrison

"The victory of Harrison, was such as pould have secured to a Roman General in the best days of the Republic, the honors of a triumph! He put an end to the war in the uppermost Canada."

Sentiments of the hero of Fort Stephenson, Col. Croghan, now of the War Department "I desire no plaudits which are bestowed opon me at the expense of Gen. Harrison. "I have felt the warmest attachment for him as a man, and my confidence in him as an able commander remains unshaken. feel every assurance that he will at all times The following tribute of praise was paid do me ample justice; and nothing could give to General Harrison, in 1811, by eleven of me more pain than to see his enemies seize upon this occasion to deal out their unfriendy feelings and acrimonous dislike; and as long as he continues, (as in my humble opinion he has hitherto done,) to make the wisest arrangements and the most judicious disposition, which the forces under his comwith the most perfect confidence of victory mand will justify, I shall not hesitate to unite with the army in bestowing upon him that confidence which he so richly merits, and which has on no occasion been withheld."

> Lastly we come to the neat compliment of Thomas Ritchie, editor of the Richmond Enquirer, the leading organ of the Coalition in the South, who now brandishes his old "shapeless sword with two broken points," and threatens devastating war upon the conqueror of the British and Indian Coalition of the West! The Richmond Enquirer said: "Gen. Harrison's letter tells us every thing that we wish to know about the o ficers, except himself. He does justice to every one but Harrison-and the world must therefore do justice to the man, who was two modest to be just to himself.
